

the indiana law is working just fine. now instead of getting 12-18 calls per day, i get maybe 1 per week. peace and quiet at last, and my phone number has been unlisted unpublished for 10 years. provisions to weaken indiana should not be considered. i got to the point where i would have to put the computer online every night just to shut up the phone because of bothersome marketing...even on sunday morning as well...when we would tie up the phone line important family calls could not be made. so do not water down indiana law...because according to the founding fathers, power of the people is vested in local then state then federal...not the other way around!
